NUMBER 47

CONVICTS SENTENCED TO PENITENTIARY

(From Wednesday's Daily Citizen.)

Flornelio Pitor, convicted of assault, tried and convicted at the September term of the court, and whose jury recommended him to the prison of the court, was sentenced to one year in the penitentiary. The defendant cut a boy with a knife in a quarrel over a girl in Barajas.

Leo Worth, convicted of the crime of murder in the second degree, was sentenced to confinement in the territorial penitentiary for twenty years. The crime of which he was convicted was the murder by strangulation of Hattie White. The defendant on sentence said he had nothing to say, except that he was innocent, or of the crime of which he was convicted. The defendant said he came from California, and had never lived or been in prison, as certain newspapers had inferred.

Andrew Trujillo, who was convicted by a jury of having shot (killed) a woman in his saloon out of $15.00 in making change from a $20 gold piece, was sentenced by the court to pay a fine of $100 and costs of suit, and to be committed until the fine and costs are paid.

The case of the territory against Thomas Brown, who pleaded guilty to a charge of entering a dwelling and stealing, was returned to be committed in the penitentiary one year and six months, this being his second offense.

Edgar Smith (convicted), who pleaded guilty of larceny from Dr. Grove's residence was sentenced to one year in the penitentiary.

Wm. Manno, a boy of fifteen years, who pleaded guilty to burglary of a bicycle store and stole a bunch of keys and a few tools, the court, on account of the tender age of the defendant sentenced him to three months in the county jail.

The territory vs. Mike Daily, who pleaded guilty in the early part of the term, and who made an assault with a deadly weapon, was sentenced to three months in the county jail. The assault was committed on the defendant on the night of the recent anniversary of the Santa Fe.

James Sanders, colored, charged with burglary of books and life's stores, to which he pleaded guilty, was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary.

John McInerney, convicted of assault, was sentenced to six months in the county jail.

Marion Hays, who made an assault on a woman in the southern part of the city last August, the theory of the prosecution being that he fractured the woman's skull with an ax, though the woman was not seriously injured and in testimony refused to implicate the defendant, was sentenced to two years and six months in the penitentiary.

The case of the territory vs. Ed Haines, a short-change artist, at the recent fair, pleaded guilty to an information and was sentenced to six months in the county jail.

An Indian charged with shooting in a settlement pleaded guilty to the information and was sentenced to three months in the county jail.

The court tried the case of Mrs. Floyd Whitson against Floyd Whitson for divorce, and granted a divorce on the ground of abandonment.

In the case of the territory against Vincent Arroyo, charged with conspiracy, the defendant was sentenced to pay a fine of $50 and costs.

The court also tried the case of the territory against James H. Smith, charged with assault on one Carson last fall. The testimony showed clearly that Smith acted within his authority as an officer in making the arrest of Carson, and was discharged.

BIG SMELTER AT SILVER CITY

IS NEARLY READY FOR BUSINESS—OFFICERS OF THE COMPANY.

The big smelter which is being erected at Silver City is nearly ready for business. The plant will handle 200 tons of ore daily. It is being erected and owned by the Comanche Mining and Smelting company, which was organized by capitalists and mining men of Michigan and Wisconsin. Its headquarters are at Milwaukee. The officers and directors are: S. S. Curry, Ironwood, Mich., president and treasurer; Thomas G. Atkinson, Atkinson, Mich., vice president; Charles J. Laughlin, formerly of Milwaukee, but now of Silver City, secretary; Carl Landess, Milwaukee; and Charles H. Hough, Ironwood, Mich. All of these named are gentlemen prominently identified with the commercial life of the states in which they live. President Curry will shortly visit Grant county and assume management of the Hearse properties, making his residence at Pinos Altos. He has had large experience as a mining man, and has been in direct charge of several big paying propositions.

LAS VEGAS MILITARY BAND.

REGULAR PRACTICE TO BE CONTINUED THROUGHOUT YEAR TO KEEP MEMBERS UP TO STANDARD.

There was an important meeting of this organization held at the city hall last night, presided over by S. H. Donath, says the Optic. Matters of importance were discussed and a general way arrangements perfected for the coming year. It was decided to continue the regular practice of the band through the winter months, with the idea of keeping the members up to the high standard attained.

The resignation of Eugene McElroy as manager of the band was read and accepted, though with regret. Mr. McElroy felt compelled to resign, owing to pressure of other matters of business. Appreciating in full the painstaking work of Mr. McElroy in behalf of the organization, it was ordered that a vote of thanks be extended to the gentleman.

Guy Gatebel, the bustling young man at the Wells-Fargo office, was selected as the one most worthy to fill the position left down by Mr. McElroy, and it is said to predict that Mr. Gatebel will ably fill the office of manager.

The members of this popular organization contemplate a better, if possible, band for the season of 1905. There will be an additional membership worked up, and the coming year will see Las Vegas the proud possessor of a band that will compare favorably with the best in the southwest.

An indignation meeting always affords some people a lot of pleasure.

CHARITY BALL A GRAND SUCCESS

OTHER THANKSGIVING EVENTS WERE ALL WELL ATTENDED BY THE PEOPLE.

(From Friday's Daily Citizen.)

It is estimated that fully 500 people were in attendance at the Charity Ball given last night at the Elks hall room by the Non-Sectarian Benevolent society. It was about 9 o'clock when an orchestra of four pieces started to render the delightful dance music, and everybody present was in a whirl.

The program consisted of fourteen regular numbers and several extras. The various committees were out in full force and performed their duties well.

Light refreshments were served during the evening and every one present enjoyed an excellent social dance. From a financial standpoint the ball was a huge success, the gross proceeds amounting to $200, while the expenses were about $25, leaving the Benevolent society $175 to start their excellent work this winter and the members of the organization are grateful to the public for assisting them so materially by their generous purchase of tickets.

Lead Avenue Methodist.

The attendance at the Thanksgiving dinner yesterday by the ladies of the New Lead Avenue Methodist church was a record-breaker. Dinner was served at noon and in the evening. The ladies made a very neat sum of money from the affair and every one attended had all kinds of good things to eat. The Church Publishing company, who publish the Ladies' Home Journal, furnished the decorations for one booth and many subscriptions for this popular magazine were taken.

Potatoes and Sweet Potatoes.

At the lowing alley old stand, No. 311 West Railroad avenue, the African Methodist Episcopal church people held forth, and during the afternoon and for several hours in the evening enjoyed a fine trade, serving 'possum, sweet potatoes, roast pig and turkey, with choice side dishes. The promoters of the supper netted quite a nice sum for the church.

School Children's Donations.

The school children of Albuquerque helped in a royal manner toward giving the needy poor of this city a good Thanksgiving meal, with some doll cakes on the side. Mrs. Edmund, president of the Non-Sectarian Benevolent society, received Tuesday afternoon and Thursday morning at least three wagon loads down with eatables, all donated by the school children, and $1.50 in money. Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Edwards and the other good ladies in charge of the Non-Sectarian Benevolent society were busy in distributing around to the needy those substantial table gifts from the children, and no one in Albuquerque, where charity was necessary, went without his or her Thanksgiving meal, and many eat turkey and cranberries.

The Non-Sectarian Benevolent society is an organization truly charitable in every sense of the word, and, although imposed upon sometimes by those not in need, many of the deserving poor receive assistance during the year from this organization.

The Presbyterians.

The Presbyterians held their bazaar on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week at No. 311 West Railroad avenue, and the treasury of the church was enriched several hundred dollars.

The Episcopalians.

On Monday night, at the new guild hall of the St. John's Episcopal church, the ladies of the guild gave a fine old-fashioned New England supper, and helped to swell the treasury of the church by the addition of quite a nice sum of money.

Union Services.

The Thanksgiving union services were held last night at the Presbyterian church, and were largely attended. The Protestant ministers of the city took part and the short talks, with the songs, were very interesting and instructive.

SOME INTERESTING WOOL QUOTATIONS

The Colorado, New Mexico and Arizona representative, H. E. Moore, for F. J. Primrose, wool broker and buyer of Philadelphia, has purchased many thousands of pounds of wool for Mr. Primrose in the territory represented. The Citizen is in receipt of the following interesting memorandum:

New Mexico—Within ten days our Mr. Moore has bought an accumulation of about 125,000 pounds of short stapled (fall clip) southern New Mexican wool, for which he paid 20 1/2 cents per pound, f. o. b. cars. At an estimated shrinkage of 60 per cent, this wool will cost southern a little over 15 cents delivered in the eastern markets. I believe this to be the highest price paid in New Mexico during the past twenty years. In June of this year the spring clip from the same sheep sold at 11 cents to 14 1/2 cents, thus showing a most phenomenal advance.

Year's growth wools and wools of better quality are always more valuable.

Arizona—The finer clips of this territory are usually more valuable than the average New Mexican.

Colorado—Most of these are of year's growth and will average higher in grade than the New Mexican. In Navajo—We have recently offered to pay 16 1/2 cents, f. o. b. cars, for good conditioned fall white Navajo.

GOOD MORNING.

"I represent the Mutual Life insurance company of New York. Unlike most agents, I do not talk, but when brought to a 'point' will write. Have you heard about our new policy? If not, try me by writing for further information to Darby A. Day, manager, Albuquerque, N. M. Don't forget."

The above was printed on shipping tags and mailed to many citizens throughout the city yesterday. A first-class No. 2 lead pencil was attached to the tags. It was a neat advertising dodge, and Manager Day will no doubt hear of good results.

A Nice Pick Up.

It is reported that two young prospectors, who have been at work on a mining claim near the Minnie, of the Sheeptrail group, have just made a shipment of four sacks of ore that netted them the nice little sum of $1,500. The vein from which this ore was taken is quite large, but the rich streak is small and runs on one of the walls. The Minnie mine, on the surface, produced similar ore and in quantity.—Kinman Miner.

Smelter for Kingman.

It is expected that within a few days the promoters of the smelter proposition will arrive in Kingman for the purpose of selecting a site for the plant, says the Miner. As yet it is not known just where the site may be located, but that it will come to Kingman is among the certainties. Kingman is the best place for a smelter of any of the towns on the line of the Santa Fe, as it is in touch with all the mining camps of the desert country.

College Heads Confer.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 25.—The 8th annual conference of collegiate and secondary instructors of the central states began today at Western Reserve university and will continue through tomorrow. The general topic of discussion is the educational value of certain subjects in the curricula of the high schools and colleges. Prominent among those taking part are Professor Halstead of Kenton college, Professor Francis Dayer of Geneva college, Professor W. H. Holmes of Western Reserve university, Professor Charles N. Cole of Oberlin college, and Professor Thomas Bailey Lovell of Niagara Falls.

"Every young man has a future before him," remarked the Wise Guy. "Yes," agreed the Simple Man; "the difficulty is to catch up with it."—Philadelphia Record.

MAJOR LLEWELLYN'S REASONS FOR DEFEAT

CHARGES HAWKINS AND FALL, AND SAYS IT WAS PURELY A PERSONAL MATTER.

(From Thursday's Daily Citizen.)

Major W. H. H. Llewellyn, attorney for the territory in the Third and Sixth judicial districts, and the defeated republican candidate for the territorial house of representatives from Dona Ana and Otero counties, arrived here from Las Cruces this morning. The major refused either to confirm or deny the report that he is out for the United States attorneyship of New Mexico and also, whether or not he is a candidate to succeed himself as district attorney. However, regarding politics, the administration and his defeat, and the cause of the latter, Major Llewellyn had much to say and to The Citizen reporter contributed the following:

"I'm a strict party man and I believe in party organization and I will stay with party organization. And you may say that I am for the governor, Delegate-elect W. H. Andrews, the central committee and incidentally, the secretary, who by the way, is a very able man.

"I was defeated, you all know, but considering the fact that the majorities of the county were as low as sixteen and the collector, a very strong man, only received fifty majority, I feel very highly complimented on the vote of my home county.

"In Otero county there was 222 majority, leaving a majority of seventy-nine against me in the two counties. The result in Otero county was brought about by one W. A. Hawkins, attorney for the El Paso-Northeastern railroad, not that that corporation had anything against me, but his action was entirely at the instigation, I believe, of one A. H. Fall of El Paso, and the entire matter was personal.

"Hawkins had 2,000 republican tickets printed on the same form as the regular tickets and he had placed Luna stickers. In several precincts these bogus tickets were substituted for the regular republican tickets. In Alamogordo in box No. 1, which is a very strong railroad precinct, there were 179 majority against me.

"There are other matters in connection with the election in Otero county and the operations of Mr. Hawkins that I do not care to say anything about at the present time. Col. E. Van Patton, of Las Cruces, and I went to Otero county ten days before the election. We worked night and day for the straight republican ticket, holding meetings, the candidates being with us, in all the precincts we could reach. The entire county ticket is elected, and that is glory enough. I do not know whether I shall contest Mr. Luna's seat or not. He is a good old man.

"Some time before the election, I wrote a private letter to a supposed friend in Otero county in which I used the expression that in this day and age I did not believe that either the Mexicans or Americans would stand to send a man to the legislature who did not speak the English language.

"I'm informed that Mr. Hawkins paid $25 for this letter and it was used against me and probably cost me 100 votes in the two counties. I have a copy of the erroneous translation of this letter in Spanish, which is entirely different from the original letter.

"The result of the election in Dona Ana county, however, is a magnificent tribute to the loyalty of the Mexican people to the principles of the republican party and was a crushing defeat to the pretensions of Mr. Fall that he controlled that county, with a corruption fund unheard of in the history of the county, and with strong candidates on the democratic ticket, and with Mr. Fall personally directing the campaign, failed to elect a single candidate."

Failure of a Bank.

Washington, Nov. 25.—The Big Bend National bank of Davenport, Washington, has been closed by direction of the comptroller of the currency because of insolvency and National Bank Examiner Eugene T. Wilson has been appointed receiver. The failure of this bank, according to the statement issued by the comptroller, is due to losses sustained upon excessive loans, principally to mining interests, with which the officers of the bank are identified. The bank had deposits amounting to $433,800.

Yanger-Sayres Bout.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 25.—Henry Yanger and "Kid" Sayres will meet in a ten-round bout before a Milwaukee club tonight, and the Sayres crowd is displaying a great deal of confidence over the outcome. Sayres has trained hard and is reported to be in excellent shape. The same feeling of confidence is displayed at the Yanger camp. The boys met a few weeks ago and fought a draw. The meeting took place in Milwaukee and was a fast affair from start to finish.

Death of Old Lady.

Mrs. Margarita Montoya, aged 78 years, died at her home at Los Canchales yesterday morning from the infirmities of old age. The body was turned over to Edwards & Fisher to be prepared for burial, the funeral occurring tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock at the church of San Felipe de Neri, old town, with burial in Santa Barbara cemetery. The deceased has many relatives residing at Bernalillo and Pena Blanca, Sandoval county.

Portland. The superb scenic routes over which one travels in crossing the continent in the northwest, and the beautiful country surrounding Portland, will compensate one alone for the trip, besides seeing the most comprehensive exposition ever held.

The centennial grounds are the most beautiful ever conceived for such a purpose. The site comprises 100 acres of land and 230 acres of water. A natural lake with a peninsula extending out into it furnishes a keynote to the landscape scheme. The main buildings are situated on the sloping terraces overlooking Gull's lake and the Willamette river. The view from the grounds is almost without parallel for beauty and grandeur. In the distance can be seen snow-capped mountain peaks, including Mt. Hood and Mt. St. Helens. Most of the exposition was a natural park to begin with and after the landscape artist finished his work, nothing could be done to make this little gem of an exposition more beautiful.

Compactness has been the scheme in laying out the buildings and the exposition can be seen and comprehended within the time and means that the average visitor has at his disposal.

Eight large exhibit palaces form the "main picture." Around these are clustered the state and minor buildings. The United States government, which has appropriated $475,000 for its participation, will erect its buildings on the peninsula in the center of the lake. This peninsula is reached from one portion of the mainland by an ornate bridge, called the Bridge of Nations. Upon the near end of this bridge will be situated the "Trail," the amusement street of the fair.

Many of the states have appropriated sums of money ranging from $10,000 to $100,000, for their participation, and some will erect handsome pavilions.

Foreign participation will be extensive, the exhibits being largely drawn from the Louisiana Purchase exposition, as the countries could not be expected to make a new effort for an exposition coming so close upon the St. Louis show. As a result only the cream of what the foreign countries displayed there will be transferred to Portland, Japan and China and other nations of the far east will be represented with characteristic exhibits. In recognition of the new era of racial trade relations, the exhibits from Asiatic lands will be significant.

The installation of exhibits will begin in December, as Portland winters are very mild, and every indication points to a completed exposition on opening day.

FAYWOOD HOT SPRINGS

One of the best winter resorts in the southwest is the Faywood Hot Springs, Grant county. This resort is about four miles off the railroad, but a stage meets all trains at Faywood station. It is located on the branch line southwest from Ratoon, via Bend, being about midway between Bend and Silver City. "The Conqueror" is the name of the hotel at the springs, presided over by Mr. and Mrs. T. C. McJannet, and the hotel is by all odds the best adapted for a springs resort in the county. There is about 800 yards of promenade around the building, and every living room gets pure sunshine all day long. The tables are supplied with the best to be obtained, and while often the guests are treated to turkey, chicken, pheasants and other fowls. It is all right—that is, Faywood, and the springs will no doubt be liberally patronized this winter.

Exposition Is Nearing Completion

Portland, Ore., Nov. 24.—The construction work on the grounds and buildings of the Lewis and Clark Centennial exposition which will be held in Portland, Ore., next summer, opening June 1 and closing Oct. 15, is progressing rapidly. Many of the large exhibit palaces are finished and the others are nearing completion.

THE DUEL THAT WAS CHOPPED OFF

One day in June, 1882, the writer was on a westbound train which sidetracked at Ash Park to wait for the Atlantic and Pacific express to pass when a man dressed in cowboy garb and having two guns and a knife in his arsenal came riding up to the platform on a cayuse. All the passengers got out of the coaches to take a look at him as he dismounted and it was the general verdict that he was a bad man and must be treated tenderly. He was enjoying the attention as attracted when another man came riding up from the opposite direction, also mounted on a cayuse, with guns and a knife and a bad, bad appearance. He dismounted within twenty feet of the other, drew himself up as stiff as a ramrod and looked at the first come with an expression of deep contempt on his face.

It was plain to be seen that bad blood existed between them and the women and children were hustled back into the coaches to be clear of the expected row. Boldly such man rested his hand on the butt of a pistol and looked defiantly at the other. Then each stooped back and began walking up and won the platform. There's going to be bloodshed and death here if we don't interfere!" whispered a bald-headed man who had a wife and five children in one of the parlor cars, and at his suggestion the little crowd of men divided and approached the two brawlers to argue with them.

"Gentlemen," replied the first bad man when asked not to do any shooting, "that fellow insulted me and I must have his blood. I'm a good-natured man and allow willing to accommodate, but don't ask me to spare him."

UP FROM THE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE

COACH J. O. MILLER AND FOOTBALL ELEVEN ARRIVED THIS MORNING.

(From Thursday's Daily Citizen.)

J. O. Miller, coach of the Agricultural college football eleven, with the lucky young lads who are paying the Albuquerque eleven, arrived from Santa Fe this morning. Mr. Miller and the boys were pleasant callers at The Citizen office this morning, and from Mr. Miller this paper gleaned the following interesting paragraphs about this popular territorial institution:

The examinations for the first term have just been completed and the results have been gratifying. The work so far this year has been more satisfactory than heretofore. It was thought during the summer that the drought throughout the territory would affect the attendance. But the attendance is as large as that of last year, if not larger, and the enlargement of the gym dormitory has helped a great deal in carrying on the work and in making things comfortable and home like for all the girls.

Professor Charles Mills, head of the engineering course, has resigned his position, going to a more lucrative position in San Diego, Cal. His successor has not yet been appointed.

A large number of the professors connected with the experiment station work were in attendance at the irrigation congress in El Paso. A great deal of interest has been awakened in the valley over the action of the congress regarding the storing of water for irrigation of farms throughout the Mesilla valley.

Among the 225 students enrolled in the various departments of the college, several societies are in thriving condition.—The Columbian literary society, the Minerva literary society, the Lincoln literary society, athletic association, dramatic club, a boys' fraternity, all of them have large memberships and are quite active.

The military department is flourishing this year under the direction of Colonel E. A. Edwards, U. S. A., retired, and the officers of the cadets are as follows: Earl A. Graham, major, commanding battalion; Joe Geo. Miller, captain and adjutant; George Heide, sergeant major; Company A, Homer Allenman, captain; John Freeman, first lieutenant; Arthur Frazer, second lieutenant; Edward Redding, first sergeant; Company B, Ben Gilliam, captain; Jay Shooking, first lieutenant; Jake Sweet, second lieutenant; Dean Woodcock, first lieutenant.

The boys of the football team who came in this morning are all a fine spirit, although some are a little sore from the hard game they had with the El Paso Athletics. Those who will meet the A. A.'s are Perry Kearney, John Copeland, Ed Caldwell, Irvy Brown, Harry Schultz, Ben Nabors, Res Hart, Herbert Allenman. The game will be both interesting and close.

Free From Care.

Barnes—Shouldn't get to be a regular beat, hasn't he?

Howes—He's not a beat, but a philosopher. He doesn't care who earns the money, so long as he can do the borrowing.—Boston Transcript.

"don't do it. In three minutes he will be a dead man!"

The other man was just as forceful. When the passengers hoped he would restrain himself and preserve the peace he warned them aside and said: "I've spared that cutter half a dozen times on an old mother's account, but now his and his come. His grave has been dug and his headboard is ready and I'm going to fix six red-hot bullets into his carcass."

Neither of the bad men could be moved by argument and the alarmed people could see that each was growing fiercer when the bald-headed man stepped in and laid a word with the station agent. A moment later that official appeared, having in his hand a stout club. He walked up the platform to where the men stood eyeing each other with bated arms and heavy-breasted and bawling before them, he said to the one on his right:

"Like Hoozer, you want to chop it right off and get out of this!" The heated about five seconds and then got into his saddle and galloped off and the agent took a fresh grip on his club and said to the other: "Jim White, you make me tired and I'll give you one minute in which to quit!" It didn't take Jim over half a minute to mount his cayuse and head away, and as the passengers murmured their astonishment and thanks the agent flung his club away and said: "Those cutters acted in a play for two or three nights last year and they come down here every day to pose and show off and scare women and children. I'm getting weary of it and if they don't quit I'll chuck the both of 'em into a barrel and ship 'em to some eastern state museum."

SAD ENDING OF A HONEYMOON

RODERICK REID SHOT IN HEAD BY COLORADO BOY, WHO FIRED AT PASSENGER TRAIN.

Speeding away toward the west, where they had planned to spend the happy days of the honeymoon, Roderick Reid and his bride were overtaken by disaster yesterday afternoon three miles beyond Delta, says the Denver News. In a few days Mrs. Reid will bring back to Denver the body of her husband, in the fatal hope that surgery will save the life which now seems doomed to a frightful catastrophe.

While the westbound Rio Grande train on which they had taken passage was running at full speed one of a party of boys standing on an embankment fired a shot from a small caliber rifle into the moving train. The ball shattered the car window and struck Mr. Reid in the right temple. A brief examination showed the bullet had taken a forward course and carried away the right eye.

The wound of the shot started the passengers, and the train was immediately stopped, while the crew made chase for the boys. They succeeded in catching George Yates, who gave the information that Joseph Oberfell, a young boy in the neighborhood, had fired the shot. He has not yet been captured.

The train was run back to Delta, where Dr. Bull of that place performed an operation. He found the bones of the skull somewhat shattered, but expressed the hope that the brain might not be affected. Mr. Reid was later removed to the hospital at Grand Junction.

Mrs. Reid was prostrated with grief at the tragic occurrence, but bravely stayed by her husband and will remain with him until he can be removed to Denver. Last night she telegraphed to her mother, Mrs. Laura Schreiber of 47 South Lincoln avenue, giving brief details of the unfortunate affair.

Roderick Reid is an enthusiastic young man and for a number of years has been connected with the Colorado Telephone company. He was lately promoted to the position of chief clerk in the auditing department.

Mrs. Reid, who was Miss Grace Schroeder, was a stenographer in the employ of the same company. The marriage of the young people took place on last Thursday, the ceremony being performed at the home of the bride's parents by Rev. W. A. Hunter, pastor of the First Avenue Presbyterian church. The next day the young couple started on their honeymoon trip, planning to spend several weeks in California.

Mr. Reid is a son of George Reid, foreman in the employ of the Denver & Rio Grande railroad. It was the intention of Mr. Reid and his bride to live with her parents at 47 South Lincoln avenue.

So Simple.

"She's a lovely girl, and so simple in her tastes. I told her that I hadn't much of an income yet, but that I hoped I could provide for her every want."

"And what did she say?"

"She said that would be all she could ask."—London Tit-Bits.
